Description / Position Overview

City Horticulturalist

The City of Colorado Springs, Parks, Recreation and Cultural Services Department seeks a rising leader with entry to mid-level supervisory experience who is passionate about Colorado appropriate water-wise horticulture and planning to take our current program to the next level. In this transformative position, you will oversee the City's horticultural program, a small greenhouse, and field staff. You will plan and grow plant material for the historic downtown medians and the Springs in Bloom community volunteer annual program. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to evaluate and set the vision for the City's horticulture program and provide guidance and support for some internal Park projects as part of setting a revised program direction. We recognize this experience, and these principles are found in and can be transferable from surrounding regional communities, especially with the right candidate. All motivated and qualified candidates are encouraged to apply.
