Gard'N-Wise Signs Partnership with The Perfect Plant®

Gard'N-Wise has signed a deal with Marketing Garden LLC for The Perfect Plant's problem solver. The agreement combines synthetic and organic control products offered through Gard'N-Wise with The Perfect Plant's technology for a ready-to-use problem solver. "Tying the products we offer into The Perfect Plant allows retailers to offer their staff valuable product knowledge from day one of employment. The interactive platform builds confidence with consumers and helps solidify our retailers as the go-to resource for customer needs," says John Bruntzel, Gard'N-Wise Sales Manager. Read more.

Do You Know about Tax Deductions for Trade Shows?

With tax time rapidly approaching, it's good to know that Uncle Sam, through tax laws, is willing to pick up the expense of attending industry events like ProGreen EXPO - at least for some. Bottom-line: green industry businesses can deduct all non-extravagant "ordinary and necessary expenses" incurred attending business-related conferences, shows and other events. With certain limits, allowable expenses include travel, lodging, meals and associated out-of-pocket costs. Learn more.

Who's the Member?

This member maintains 21 city parks occupying more than 170 acres, seven miles of trails and 300 acres of open space. They manage urban forestry, community gardens and nature programs. They offer a Memorial Tree where you can make a donation to have a tree planted in a city park to honor the memory of your loved one. Meet a fellow CNGA member.

Expand Your Brand: Sponsor a BBQ

If you are new to CNGA or just want to remind members of your company's quality products and services, then sponsoring a BBQ might be the right move for you. It is a very cost effective way to get your message in front of CNGA members and meet them face to face. For details, contact Allison Gault.
